

HAERE MAI

Welcome to the Auckland Museum and Auckland Council Gig Guide, your handy guide to music events happening in your city this summer. We are celebrating local music-makers, young and old, in conjunction with Volume: Making Music in Aotearoa at Auckland Museum, the largest-ever exhibition about New Zealand music.

From Grafton to Glen Innes, there are free, fun events happening all over Auckland from January to May. Get into the groove and get stuck into the musical offerings in Tāmaki Makaurau.

LANDMARK EXHIBITION VOLUME: MAKING MUSIC IN AOTEAROA

ON NOW UNTIL 21 MAY 2017
DAILY 10AM – 5PM, AUCKLAND MUSEUM F

Turn up the volume this summer with our new exhibition exploring seven decades of New Zealand music and the homegrown talent behind it.

Volume: Making Music in Aotearoa is the first major exhibition of New Zealand music. Volume pays tribute to the musicians who have provided the soundtrack to our lives and gets you closer to making music yourself with these hands on experiences:

- Step into a recording studio and mix a song
- Spin the decks as a DJ
- Flip through records in a record store
- Play a classic Kiwi song on real instruments
- Have a dance on the set of 1960s' TV music show C'mon

Inside Volume you can get up close to hundreds of objects from the personal collections of some of Aotearoa's most well-known artists – with costumes, instruments, handwritten lyrics, awards, images, and memorabilia all helping to bring the story of New Zealand music to life.

The music doesn't need to stop when you leave Volume – by tagging your Spark All Access Pass as you explore the exhibition, you can take playlists, films and your own Volume moments home with you.

Volume: Making Music in Aotearoa has been developed with the New Zealand Music Hall of Fame Trust (APRA AMCOS and Recorded Music NZ) and is amplified by SPARK.
