

FELT AND BUTTON POPPY

Make your own Anzac Day Poppy.

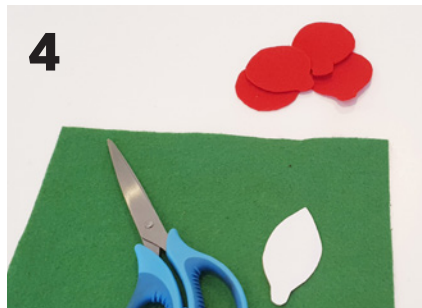

You will need: red and green felt, green pipe cleaner, black button, scissors, safety pin.

First of all create a template for the petals on paper. We used a tablespoon measure. Don't create a complete circle - draw a little lip.

Cut out four petals from the felt using the template.

Now create a paper template for your leaves. Again give it a little lip at the end. And cut out two leaves from the green felt.

For the two leaves and the four petals, poke a hole through the lip using a safety pin. You may need a grown up to help you with this part.

You may need to use a skewer or something similar to slightly widen each hole.

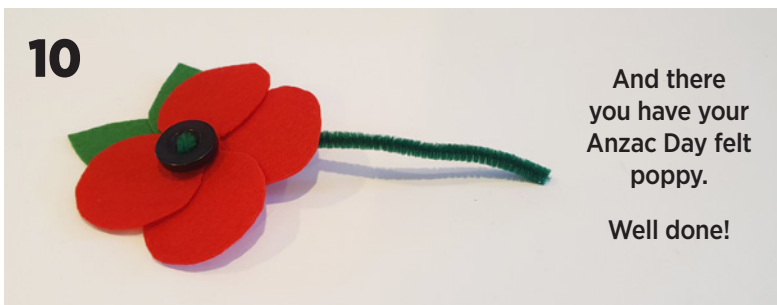

Now thread the two leaves then the four petals onto a green pipe cleaner.

Put the button on top - thread the pipe cleaner through one hole and back through another. Then twist the pipe cleaner under the button to secure. Pull tight.

If you want the poppy to be a brooch, you can glue on a safety pin, using hot glue. Be careful with this bit.

And there you have your Anzac Day felt poppy.

Well done!

aucklandmuseum.com/athome

CREPE PAPER POPPY

Make your own Anzac Day Poppy.

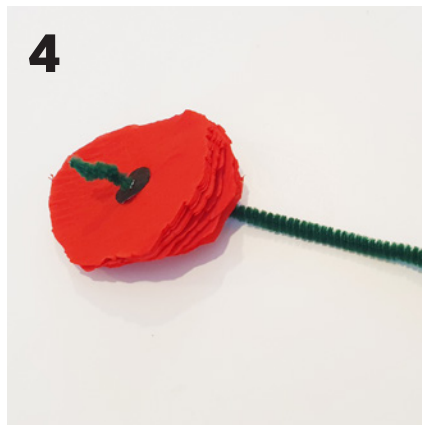

1 Gather your supplies – red crepe or tissue paper, green pipecleaner, scissors, safety pin and a little circle of black paper (we coloured some white paper black). Alternatively you could also colour in some white paper with a red felt tip. Or create the poppy with white paper and decorate it red at the end!

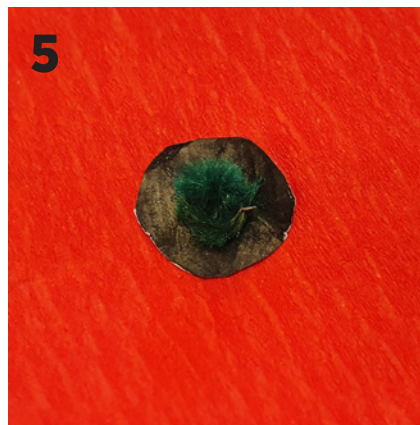

2 Fold your crepe or tissue paper many times, then cut out a multi-layered circle. We just did this rough, but you can create a template if you like.

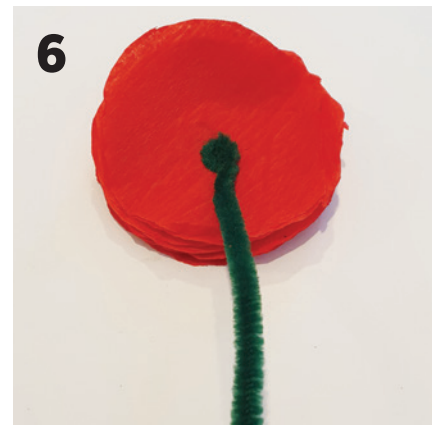

3 Lay your small black circle on top of your red layers and push a safety pin through. Perhaps get a grown up to help you with this bit. Wiggle the pin to make sure the hole is wide enough for your pipe cleaner

4 Push the pipe cleaner through all the layers.

5 Twist a little spiral on the front and the back so that the poppy stays secure.

6 And there's your paper poppy. You can also add a safety pin to this one if you like with a piece of tape or push it through a buttonhole.

7 And there you have your Anzac Day crepe paper poppy. Well done!

